THE LATE MR. SIMBON AND MR. WESLEY. The account given by himself of a conversation which, about three or four years after he was ordained, he had with the venerateristic and appropriate, that I will here venture to introduce it: - Sir, I understand that you are called an Arminian; and I have been sometimes called a Calvinist, an therefor I suppose we are to draw daggers. But, before I consent to begin the combat, with your permission I will ask you a few questions, not from importment curiosity, but for real instruction." Permission being very readiand kindly granted, the young minister proceeded to ask, " Pray, Sir, do you feel yourself a depraved creature, unto God, if God had not first put it into your heart?"—
"Y's," says the veteran, "I do indeed." "And do you "I says the velocati," to do likecut. "Audiou you utterly despair of recommending yourself to Gol by any thing that you can do, and look for salvation solely through the blood and right-ousness of Christ?"—"Yes, solely through Christ." "But, Sir, supposing you were first saved by Christ, are you not somehow or other to cave your. self afterwards by your own works ?"—" No, I must be saved by Christ from first to last." "Allowing, then, that you were first turned by the grace of God, are you not in some way or other to keep yourself by your own power ?" -" No." "What, then, are you to be upheld every hour, and every moment by God, as much as an infant in its mother's arms ?"-" Yes, altogether." "And is all your hope in the grace and mercy of God to preserve you unto his heavenly kingdon?——"Yes, I have no hope but in him." "Then, Sir, with your leave, I will put up my largeer again; for this is all my Calvinism: this is my election, ny justification by faith, my final perseverance: therefore, if you please, instead of searching out terms and phrases to be a ground of contention between us, we will ordially unite in those things wherein we agree."-Dr. Dealtry's Sermon on the death of the Rev. Charles Simcon. towards the obly on

COLLEGE REMINISCENCE—ANECDOTE OF A MISSIONARY

Some years since, when in college, I happened to occupy a room adjoining that of a class-mate, who was devotedly pious. Here, unintentionally, I became the frequent witness of his devotions. after the regular recitations of the class, when the students generally were out for exercise or amusement, that he set apart an hour for prayer. Secluded in his private room-supposing none but God was near, he poured out his soul earnestly and freely. But what a prayer! He prayed that he might have no wish of his own—that his fondest desires might none of them be gratified except for the glory of God. He would enjoy no pleasure which did not tend to fit him for doing good-he would be freed from no pain designed to prepare him for the work of the Lord. He would be entirely God's-partake of his will-live in his presence-enjoy his societyand labor to advance his kingdom. Passions and appetites, learning and influence, must be brought into willing conformity with the spirit of the gospel.

This young man was wealthy. Reader, would you know further? His thousands are consecrated to the spread of the gospel among the heathen—and, more, he has devoted himself—far away from his native land, isolated from the enjoyments of civilized society—to wear out his life almost alone among the most unlovely of the human race. He went not to the millions of China and Japan, for whom the sympa-thies and prayers of Christians have been so abundant-he went not to the worshippers of the Grand Lama, or the devotees of Juggernaut, whose claims were known and felt, to some degree, throughout Christendom-he did not seek to tread Mount Olivet, and excite the flowings of penitence at Joseph's tomb; but there, in South-east Africa, among the most degraded of the earth, methinks I see him, telling the wondering savages of a Savior, laboring to form a written language for them, that they may read the word of God for themselves. May his pious labors be blessed, as doubtless they will be, and may a church arise from that land of darkness, which shall shed forth a clearer light upon the nations, and praise God for the birth of George Champion. O. C.

Count Lavalette, one of Napoleon's aids-de-camp. ROCKET COMMUNICATION WITH VESSELS IN DISTRESS, but imprisoned, under sentence of death, after the fall ; On Tuesday, A. C. Carter, Esq. ordnance storekeeper of the citadel at Hull, the inventor of a valuable and inof his master, relates in his memoirs that he had the following dream in his prison; a dream which finds genious contrivance for effecting a communication bemany a counter-part equally horrid in the actual realities of war, and even in the sketches of Lavatween vessels in distress and the shore, by means of lines earried out by rockets, exhibited a number of experiments at the north end of Prince's Pier, with the view to the lette's own experience and observation: establishment of rocket stations on this coast. The prin-"I dreamed," says he "that I was standing in the Rue St. Honore, at the corner of the Rue de l'Echelle. A melancholy darkness spread around me. All was still; but a low, uncertain sound soon arose. All of a sudden I per cipal number of experiments were at nine o'clock in the evening. A strong rocket-ease, of from one to two pounds weight, made of iron, is filled with Congreve fire; into the centre on the firing part of this the stick is serewed, and ceived at the street, and advancing towards me, a troop of the line, a thick and heavy twine, is attached to a loop at cavalry, the men and horses all flayed! the end of the stick. Before firing, the rocket is placed The men held torches in their hands, the red flames of the end of the siles. Debot irring, he rocace is placed in a kind of stand, capable of being raised to any degree of elevation, and, with this, aim is taken at the edject in tended to be fired at. For the experiments a steamer was which glared upon faces without skin, and bloody muscles. Their hollow eyes relled fearfully in their vast sockets; their mouths opened from ear to ear; and helmets of moored about 250 yards from the pier. The wind was blowing strong across the vessel from the S.W. The first hanging flesh covered their hideous heads. The horse dragged along their own skins in the kennels which were overflowing on both sides with blood.

Women, with pale faces and disshevelled hair, appeared and disappeared alternately at the windows in dismassilence. Low, inarticulate grouns filled the air; and I remained in the streets alone, petrified with horror, and retaining too little streets alone, petrified with horror, and retaining too little streets to gaske may a feet in litely. The horses dragged along their own skins in the kenrocket fell short, the elevation not being sufficiently high at the time. The second rocket went beautifully over the vessel, dropping the line across her, and carrying it out at least four hundred yards. Other trials at various ranges were then made by several gentlemen present, and the line retaining too little strength to seck my safety in flight was three or four times carried across the vessel, and twice This horrible troop continued passing in a rapid gallop, and easting frightful looks upon me. Their march, I the rocket fell on the poop, amidst the loud plaudits of hundreds of spectators who had assembled to witness the thought, lasted for five hours; and they were followed by an immense number of artillery-wagons full of bleeding corpses whose limbs still quivered. The air seemed too experiments. Two of the rockets without lines attached, were then fired in the direction of the Rock Light, to show distance, and appeared almost to reach the light. Indeed their force must be considerable, for the weight of line they carry out is about 6 lbs. Some messenger-reaches for conveying letters were then fired. These are of an en-tirely diliverant description. They are much larger, are foul to breathe; and a disgusting smell of blood and bitumen almost choked me." Con A mu made of paper, like the common rocket, but have a compartment in the head for holding letters or papers. One of them, fired towards Woodside, right in the teeth of the wind, nearly reached its destination; going upwards of mile. These, however, have not the tremendous force of the iron-cased rockets. The average number of times anthe love which the rocket lines crossed the vessel w s about three times out of five. As a means of communication from a vessel in distress to the shore, they must be invaluable; for, or eximiles - loss if the vessel is at all within distance, namely, about four head to the shore, and give it a good elevation.- Liverpool Withir in hold wind the frunchan is good that is the exposition for if It ful of has herson a when ind prives here tot lind own in wheat both Circular but is forfus w- the without is not no tril vorsible But or to hearona moherty the Con is difficunt if h is an olien brend h may mich frenchon &
